

Concert and Lecture Series

THE CONCERT AND LECTURE Committee brings to the campus each year distinguished attractions selected both for entertainment and educational values. Attendance of all students is provided for by the payment of regular College fees, and the public generally may take advantage of this privilege through the purchase of a season ticket at a nominal price.

In the recent past the Series has included Nino Martini, Eva LeGallienne, the United States Marine Band, Carl Sandburg, Rose Bampton, Cornelia Otis Skinner, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, Joseph Szigeti and other varied features of the same high caliber.

Health Program

ALABAMA COLLEGE maintains an infirmary of 36 beds fully equipped and supervised by a resident physician and two nurses. At the beginning of the school term each student is given a thorough physical examination, the results of which are kept in the physician's files for reference. Parents are assured that their daughter is pursuing her studies under the watchful eye of the College physician and staff whose primary interest is in her physical well-being.

The College owns and operates its own Dairy Farm of two hundred acres. The herd consists of over one hundred registered and grade Jersey and Holstein cattle, insuring a steady and abundant daily milk supply for the dining halls. The quality of meals served at the College is deservedly famous in all parts of Alabama.

College Night

THE HIGHLIGHT of the student year is College Night. College Night is the greatest all-student tradition at Alabama College. This three-night celebration includes every student enrolled.
